

A CEREMONIAL RESOLUTION

23-299

IN THE COUNCIL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

September 22, 2020

To establish October 7, 2020 as the “District of Columbia Energy Efficiency Day” and to commemorate the Reduce Energy Use DC initiative.

WHEREAS, the Council of the District of Columbia previously approved a resolution, recognizing October 2, 2019 as the “District of Columbia Energy Efficiency Day,” the benefits of conserving energy requires an annual day of recognition, annually, aligned with the promotion of key actions that can be taken by residents to reduce energy usage, protect the environment and reduce energy costs for all;

WHEREAS, the Reduce Energy Use DC initiative complemented this day of recognition, its ongoing implementation will be important in helping residents save on their energy bills, during these most challenging times and into the future;

WHEREAS, when establishing the first annual Energy Efficiency Day in 2019, the Council of the District of Columbia recognized a voluntary energy efficiency effort to be run during peak demand summer months;

WHEREAS, the Reduce Energy Use DC initiative, founded by the District Department of Energy and Environment, DC Sustainable Energy Utility, and Pepco, accomplished this voluntary energy efficient effort in July 2020;

WHEREAS, with the advisory organization Natural Resources Defense Council and partnering organizations AARP, Advanced Energy Economy, Alliance to Save Energy, American Council for an Energy-Efficient Economy, American Lung Association in DC, DC Building Industry Association, DC Chamber of Commerce, ENERGY STAR, Federal City Council, The George Washington University School of Engineering and Applied Science, Greater Washington Board of Trade, Greater Washington Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, Greater Washington Urban League, Groundswell, M.J. Bradley & Associates, National Housing Trust, Restaurant Association of Metropolitan Washington, Think Local First!, The NEED Project, and United Way of the National Capital Area;

WHEREAS, 2,487 District residents took the Reduce Energy Use DC pledge to use energy more efficiently, to reduce energy use in their homes, and save money while helping fight climate change;

WHEREAS, Reduce Energy Use DC used July 2020 as period of focused action to save energy;

WHEREAS, energy efficiency can be practiced by all year round and will directly contribute to the District meeting its clean energy goals to address climate change;

WHEREAS, the Council of the District of Columbia recognizes that we must continue to take steps to prepare for the impacts of climate change through actions to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and strategic resiliency planning;

WHEREAS, deep decarbonization incorporates multiple pathways with an emphasis on increasing energy efficiency and conservation, reducing carbon content in electricity and fuels, and transitioning to low and progressively zero carbon energy;

WHEREAS, greenhouse gas emissions are directly tied to the built environment and transportation, bold actions must be taken to reduce energy consumption and transition to lower or zero-emission transportation;

WHEREAS, the transition to zero carbon emitting sources goes beyond climate change, by having a direct and significant impact on public health for all District residents;

WHEREAS, both new and existing buildings must become more energy efficient to reduce the amount of greenhouse gas emissions they are contributing to the atmosphere, partnership with the building industry will be key to achieving maximum results;

WHEREAS, the District of Columbia has pledged to reduce greenhouse gas emissions 50% below 2006 levels by 2032 and achieve carbon neutrality by 2050;

WHEREAS, the District of Columbia has been recognized nationally for bold action with the passage of the Clean Energy DC Omnibus Amendment Act of 2018 (“Omnibus Act”);

WHEREAS, the District of Columbia has begun to make critical steps related to the implementation of the Omnibus Act;

WHEREAS, energy efficiency is the cheapest, quickest, and cleanest way to meet our energy needs and reduce utility bills for residential, business, and industrial customers;

WHEREAS, we must pursue the goal of reducing emissions and increasing energy efficiency, this must be done expeditiously with a focus on affordability;
