2013 REGULAR SESSION
ACTUARIAL NOTE HB 37

Bill Information:

Current Law

Under current law, the board of trustees for the Registrars of Voters Employees' Retirement System (RVRS) exercises its authority to establish the interest and mortality assumptions used in the determination of actuarial equivalents for benefit calculations. Although there is general authority for the board to exercise this authority, there are no specific provisions granting such authority.

Proposed Law

Under HB 37, the RVRS board of trustees will be granted the specific authority in accordance with the Administrative Procedures Act to specify interest and mortality assumptions for benefit calculation purposes.

Implications of the Proposed Changes

HB 37 merely codifies authorities that the RVRS board of trustee already assumes.

Cost Analysis:

Analysis of Actuarial Costs

Retirement Systems

There is no actuarial cost associated with HB 37

Other Post Retirement Benefits

There is no actuarial cost associated with HB 37 for post-employment benefits other than pensions.
