A BILL

To award a Congressional Gold Medal to members of the Red Cross Supplemental Recreational Activities Overseas (SRAO) program, also known as the “Donut Dollies”, who served honorably during the Vietnam conflict.

1       *Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,*

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4       This Act may be cited as “Donut Dollies Congres-
5 sional Gold Medal Act”.

1 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2       The Congress finds the following:

3               (1) The Vietnam War, (1954–1975), a conflict
4       that pitted the communist Government of North
5       Vietnam and its allies in South Vietnam, known as 6       the Viet Cong, against the Government of South
7       Vietnam, involved thousands of U.S. servicemembers
8       and volunteers over its course. U.S. military advisers,
9       present in small numbers throughout the 1950s,
10      were introduced on a large scale beginning in 1961, 11      and active combat units were introduced in 1965. As 12      early as February 1962, the number of American
13      military forces in Vietnam warranted the assignment
14      of American Red Cross field directors.

15               (2) Women were not subject to the Vietnam-era
16      draft, but thousands volunteered. The first American 17      Red Cross Field Directors were sent to South Viet-18      nam in February 1962. The last Red Cross staff
19      members to serve in-country departed in March
20      1973. Official records indicate that a total of 1,120
21      women served with the Red Cross in Vietnam during 22      that 11-year period. Of that number, 627 were 23      young women who were part of the organization's 24      Supplemental Recreation Activities Overseas
25      (SRAO) program.

(3) Based on Red Cross estimates, around 280,500 servicemen took part in these recreation programs and the women, affectionately known as "Donut Dollies", traveled 27,000 miles by jeep, truck, airplane, and helicopter every month. Red Cross officials estimate that, during the seven years the program was in operation, the women logged over 2,125,000 miles. The first SRAO unit opened at Danang in September 1965. Others quickly followed at Bien Hoa, Nha Trang, Cam Ranh Air Force and Army bases, Dian, Quang Tri, Phu Bai, Lai Khe, Dong Tam, Qui Nhon, Xuan Loc, and more. In all, there were 28 SRAO unit locations throughout the country.

1        oasis in the heat of battle, and a comfort during 2        hospitalization.”.

3                (5) These Red Cross volunteers shared with 4        military personnel the hardship and privation of life
5        in a war zone and were subject to the dangers of 6        war. Many staff were injured. Five American Red
7        Cross workers died in-country. Three of those were 8        women, Hanna E. Crews, Virginia E. Kirsch, and 9        Lucinda J. Richter, all of whom were members of 10      the SRAO program.

11                (6) The Donut Dollies volunteered to be sent to 12      the frontlines to support servicemembers directly en-
13      gaged with the enemy during the Vietnam conflict.
14      The extraordinary efforts of these volunteers
15      throughout the extent of America’s involvement in 16      the Vietnam conflict is deserving of official recogni-
17      tion.
