To award a Congressional Gold Medal to all United States nationals who voluntarily joined the Canadian and British armed forces and their supporting entities during World War II, in recognition of their dedicated service.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

FEBRUARY 5, 2019

Mr. RYAN (for himself, Ms. KAPTUR, Mr. COHEN, Mr. GONZALEZ of Texas, Mrs. DINGELL, and Ms. MCCOLLUM) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Financial Services, and in addition to the Committee on House Administration, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned

A BILL

To award a Congressional Gold Medal to all United States nationals who voluntarily joined the Canadian and British armed forces and their supporting entities during World War II, in recognition of their dedicated service.

1 *Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,*

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “American Patriots of 5 WWII through Service with the Canadian and British 6 Armed Forces Gold Medal Act of 2019”.

1 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2 Congress finds the following:

3 (1) Americans from across the country served
4 in defense of democracy and freedom during World
5 War II (WWII) by volunteering for service with the 6 Canadian and British militaries and other associated 7 organizations that were fighting Nazi and Fascist
8 aggression. Many United States citizens perceived
9 the importance of this war and the severe impact
10 Nazism and Fascism could have on the American 11 way of life. Therefore, prior to the United States
12 entry into the conflict and indeed throughout WWII 13 these patriots independently crossed the border into 14 Canada and entered Canadian and British armed 15 forces recruiting offices or sought out representa-
16 tives based in major United States municipalities
17 and elsewhere.

18 (2) When the “United Kingdom of Great Brit-
19 ain and Northern Ireland” and the “British Com-20 monwealth of Nations” were drawn into WWII after 21 Germany invaded Poland in 1939, the Canadian and 22 British air forces made a concerted effort to recruit 23 Americans.

24 (3) It is documented that thousands of Ameri-
25 cans joined the Canadian and British armed forces,
26 a large percentage joining the Royal Canadian Air

1 Force (RCAF) alone. In a 1942 film Air Marshal
2 William Avery “Billy” Bishop, an organizer and pro-
3 moter of the British Commonwealth Air Training
4 Plan (BCATP) and Director of the Royal Canadian 5 Air Force, recognized the “gallant lads from the 6 United States who have come up here to help and 7 serve with us”. Notably, many Americans were also 8 recruited and processed through Canada before 9 being assigned to or detached for the purpose of 10 Royal Air Force (RAF) service.

11 (4) General of the Army, Army of the United 12 States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, the former Supreme 13 Allied Commander of the Allied Expeditionary
14 Force, referenced, in a speech on January 10, 1946, 15 the “some twelve thousand American citizens” who 16 crossed into Canada with the goal of entering the 17 Canadian armed forces. Although the precise num-
18 bers of Americans who were in Canadian and British 19 service are unknown, media accounts published by 20 Allied journalists during the conflict nonetheless de-
21 tail their legacies of volunteerism, personal sacrifice, 22 and bravery.

23 (5) Americans also joined the Canadian Avia-
24 tion Bureau, and the Home Guard, Air Transport
25 Auxiliary (ATA), and Royal Air Force Ferry Com-

1 mand/Transport Command in Britain. The existence
2 of these ancillaries enabled patriotic citizens, who 3 were, at least initially, unable to join a branch of the 4 United States military due to gender, age, race, 5 health, the lack of sufficient college education, or 6 other reasons, to support the war effort. Those who 7 contributed via these alternative concerns were no
8 less essential to attaining victory.

9 (6) The infusion of Americans into Canada
10 helped to reduce shortages of civilian and military 11 pilots in the BCATP, and President Franklin Roo-
12 sevelt paid tribute to both Canada and the program
13 in a wartime letter to Canadian Prime Minister Wil-
14 liam Lyon Mackenzie King. Within the correspond-15 ence President Roosevelt used the phrase “the Aero-16 drome of Democracy”.

17 (7) As members of the Canadian and British 18 militaries, the American volunteers served in many 19 capacities. Extant military rolls and individual serv-20 ice records document, and thereby testify to, their 21 contributions.

22 (8) A sizable number of Americans lost their 23 lives or were wounded while serving in the RCAF
24 and RAF. The Canadian Army, British Army, Royal 25 Canadian Navy, and Royal Navy also incurred

1 American personnel casualties. Those who perished
2 and the survivors demonstrated the exceptional cour-
3 age that has been repeatedly displayed in the de-
4 fense of freedom throughout American history.

5 (9) A unique and highly publicized group of 6 Americans, who were members of the RCAF and 7 RAF, were posted to the famous RAF Eagle Squad-
8 rons and thereby showcased the important roles
9 American volunteers were undertaking. British 10 Prime Minister Winston Churchill, whose mother
11 was American, played an important role in originally 12 promoting the concept of the Eagle Squadrons to 13 the Air Ministry.

14 (10) The early successes of female ferry air-15 crews paved the way for the formation in the United 16 States of the Women Airforce Service Pilots
17 (WASP) in 1943. The exceptional legacy of the 18 Women Airforce Service Pilots, ATA, etc., provided
19 essential support and paved the way for future gen-
20 erations of military women.

21 (11) A substantial portion of the Americans
22 serving in Canadian and British aerial forces trans-23 ferred to the United States Army Air Forces be-24 tween 1942 and 1944, while others elected to enter
25 other branches of the United States Military.

1 (12) The practical experience these veterans of 2 Canadian and British service possessed provided the 3 inexperienced American Forces with an immediate 4 degree of competence and effectiveness. More than a
5 few became accomplished combat pilots, the Amer-6 ican Fighter Aces Association possessing many of 7 them within the organization's core membership.

8 (13) The bravery and foresight displayed by the 9 Americans who enlisted in the Canadian and British 10 armed forces represent a largely unrecognized story
11 of valor, and their initiatives are worthy of official 12 recognition.

13 (14) The United States Nationals who volun-
14 teered for service with military-associated Canadian 15 and British ancillary entities are to be equally recog-
16 nized for their volunteerism, contributions, and sac-
17 rifices.

18 SEC. 3. CONGRESSIONAL GOLD MEDAL.

20 pore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Rep-

15 Congress that the Smithsonian Institution should 17 available for display elsewhere.

19 the Secretary may promulgate, the Secretary may strike
20 and sell duplicates in bronze of the gold medal struck 21 under this Act, at a price sufficient to cover the costs of 22 the medals, including labor, materials, dies, use of machin-
23 ery, and overhead expenses.

1 SEC. 4. STATUS OF MEDALS.

2 (a) NATIONAL MEDALS.—Medals struck under this 3 Act are national medals for purposes of chapter 51 of title
4 31, United States Code.

5 (b) NUMISMATIC ITEMS.—For purposes of section
6 5134 of title 31, United States Code, all medals struck
7 under this Act shall be considered to be numismatic items.
