76 Section 5. Section 77-37-402 is enacted to read:

77 77-37-402. Prohibition on the use of a polygraph examination on a victim of a 78 sexual offense.

79 (1) A law enforcement officer, a prosecuting attorney, or other governmental official 80 may not:

81 (a) request or compel a victim of a sexual offense to submit to a polygraph examination
82 during the course of a criminal investigation or prosecution of a sexual offense; or

83 (b) use a polygraph examination as a condition of proceeding with a criminal 84 investigation or prosecution of a sexual offense.

85 (2) The refusal of a victim of a sexual offense to submit to a polygraph examination
86 may not prevent the investigation, charging, or prosecution of a sexual offense.

87 Section 6. Section 77-38-11 is amended to read:

88 77-38-11. Enforcement -- Appellate review -- No right to money damages.

89 (1) If a person acting under color of state law willfully or wantonly fails to perform

90 duties so that the rights in this chapter are not provided, an action for injunctive relief, 91 including prospective injunctive relief, may be brought against the individual and the 92 governmental entity that employs the individual.

93 (2) (a) The victim of a crime or representative of a victim of a crime, including any 94 Victims' Rights Committee as defined in Section 77-37-5 may:

95 (i) bring an action for declaratory relief or for a writ of mandamus defining or 96 enforcing the rights of victims and the obligations of government entities under this chapter;

97 (ii) petition to file an amicus brief in any court in any case affecting crime victims; and

98 (iii) after giving notice to the prosecution and the defense, seek an appropriate remedy
99 for a violation of a victim's right from the judge assigned to the case involving the issue as 100 provided in Section 77-38-11.

101 (b) Adverse rulings on these actions or on a motion or request brought by a victim of a
102 crime or a representative of a victim of a crime may be appealed under the rules governing
103 appellate actions, provided that an appeal may not constitute grounds for delaying any criminal 104 or juvenile proceeding.

105 (c) An appellate court shall review all properly presented issues, including issues that 106 are capable of repetition but would otherwise evade review.

107 (3) (a) Upon a showing that the victim has not unduly delayed in seeking to protect the 108 victim's right, and after hearing from the prosecution and the defense, the judge shall determine 109 whether a right of the victim has been violated.

110 (b) If the judge determines that a victim's right has been violated, the judge shall 111 proceed to determine the appropriate remedy for the violation of the victim's right by hearing
112 from the victim and the parties, considering all factors relevant to the issue, and then awarding 113 an appropriate remedy to the victim. The court shall reconsider any judicial decision or 114 judgment affected by a violation of the victim's right and determine whether, upon affording 115 the victim the right and further hearing from the prosecution and the defense, the decision or 116 judgment would have been different. If the court's decision or judgment would have been
117 different, the court shall enter the new different decision or judgment as the appropriate
118 remedy. If necessary to protect the victim's right, the new decision or judgment shall be 119 entered nunc pro tunc to the time the first decision or judgment was reached. In no event shall 120 the appropriate remedy be a new trial, damages, attorney fees, or costs.

121 (c) The appropriate remedy shall include only actions necessary to provide the victim
122 the right to which the victim was entitled and may include reopening previously held
123 proceedings. Subject to Subsection (3)(d), the court may reopen a sentence or a previously 124 entered guilty or no contest plea only if doing so would not preclude continued prosecution or 125 sentencing the defendant and would not otherwise permit the defendant to escape justice. Any 126 remedy shall be tailored to provide the victim an appropriate remedy without violating any 127 constitutional right of the defendant.

128 (d) If the court sets aside a previously entered plea of guilty or no contest, and 129 thereafter continued prosecution of the charge is held to be prevented by the defendant's having 130 been previously put in jeopardy, the order setting aside the plea is void and the plea is 131 reinstated as of the date of its original entry.

132 (e) The court may not award as a remedy the dismissal of any criminal charge.

133 (f) The court may not award any remedy if the proceeding that the victim is challenging
134 occurred more than 90 days before the victim filed an action alleging the violation of the right.

135 (4) The failure to provide the rights in this chapter or [~~Title 77, Chapter 37, Victims'~~
136 ~~Rights~~] Chapter 37, Victims and Witnesses of Crime, shall not constitute cause for a judgment
137 against the state or any government entity, or any individual employed by the state or any 138 government entity, for monetary damages, attorney fees, or the costs of exercising any rights
139 under this chapter.

140 Section 7. Section 80-6-604 is amended to read:

141 80-6-604. Victim's rights -- Access to juvenile court records.

142 (1) (a) If a minor is charged in a petition or information under this chapter for an 143 offense that if committed by an adult would be a felony or a class A or class B misdemeanor, a 144 victim of any act charged in the petition or information shall, upon request, be afforded all 145 rights afforded to victims in:

146 (i) Title 77, Chapter 36, Cohabitant Abuse Procedures Act;

148 of Crime;

152 hearings as defined in Section 77-38-2.

153 (2) A victim, upon request to the appropriate juvenile court personnel, shall have the
154 right to inspect and duplicate juvenile court records related to the offense against the victim
155 that have not been expunged under Part 10, Juvenile Records and Expungement, concerning:

156 (a) the scheduling of any juvenile court hearings on a petition or information filed
157 under this chapter;

158 (b) any findings made by the juvenile court; and
