Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill makes various changes to procedures for complaints filed with the Public Service Commission, including the following:

1. Authorizing PSC to investigate complaints filed by persons adversely affected by a person who has received a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity from PSC. Under current law, a person must obtain a CPCN before constructing a large electric generating facility or a high-voltage transmission line.

2. Authorizing PSC to investigate complaints filed by persons adversely affected by a continuous interruption of electric or gas service exceeding 180 minutes or who experienced at least two separate interruptions of electric or gas service during a one-year period.

3. Requiring PSC to disclose, upon request of a complainant or public utility or party that is the subject of a complaint, all documents and written materials that are generated or gathered related to the complaint. Under the bill, PSC may decline to disclose the documents and written materials if it determines that that disclosure would jeopardize an ongoing investigation, but PSC must disclose the documents and written materials as soon as it is feasible to do so without jeopardizing the investigation.

ASSEMBLY BILL 674

4. Prohibiting PSC from dismissing a complaint unless a majority of the commission votes to dismiss the complaint while present at a hearing that is open to the public.

5. Prohibiting PSC from dismissing a complaint for failure to contact the public utility against whom a complaint was made if the complainant made at least one documented attempt to contact the public utility before filing the complaint and certain other conditions are satisfied.

6. Authorizing PSC to order any appropriate relief, including a lower rate, a bill credit, or other compensation for complainants and similarly situated persons. The cost to a public utility of any relief ordered by PSC may not be recovered through the public utility's rates.

7. Requiring PSC to provide information on its website about the process for filing a complaint.

8. Authorizing PSC to combine multiple investigations into a single investigation if it determines that the investigations arise from complaints made against the same person and the subject matter of the complaints is substantially similar.

9. Prohibiting PSC from closing to the public a hearing based on a complaint unless both the complainant and the person that is the subject of the complaint consent.

10. Increasing from 10 days to 20 days the amount of notice that PSC must give to a complainant and a public utility or person that is the subject of a complaint before holding a hearing related to a complaint.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
