Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a county distributes the net proceeds of the sale of tax delinquent property to the former owner of the property if the former owner requests payment and if the former owner used the property as his or her homestead at any time during the five years preceding the county's acquisition of the property. Under the bill, the county pays the net proceeds to any former owner of tax delinquent property, regardless of whether the former owner requests payment and regardless of whether the former owner used the property as his or her homestead.

Upon the county's acquisition of a tax deed on tax delinquent property, current law requires the county treasurer to provide notice to the former owner that the former owner may be entitled to a share of the proceeds of a future sale of the property. If the former owner submits to the county a written request within 60 days after receiving the notice to receive payment, the county will distribute the proceeds to the former owner, minus the amount of any delinquent taxes, interest, and penalties and minus the greater of the following:

1. Five hundred dollars plus 50 percent of the amount obtained by subtracting $500 from the remaining net proceeds.

ASSEMBLY BILL 889

2. The actual costs of selling the property, plus 2 percent of the sales price, plus amounts disbursed to taxing jurisdictions to pay for special assessments, special charges, and fees for withdrawing land from the managed forest land program, and plus the amount of the property taxes that would have been owed on the property for the year during which the sale occurs if the county had not acquired the property.

Under the bill, the county distributes to the former owner the proceeds, minus the following: 1) the amount of any delinquent taxes, interest, and penalties; 2) any liens against the property; and 3) the actual costs of selling the property, plus amounts disbursed to taxing jurisdictions to pay for special assessments, special charges, and fees for withdrawing land from the managed forest land program; and plus the amount of the property taxes that would have been owed on the property for the year during which the sale occurs if the county had not acquired the property. The bill eliminates the additional penalty equal to 2 percent of the sales price.

For further information see the local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
